Residential, residential dementia and short-stay care in Royal Leamington Spa

The home with a legacy of care

When you arrive, it's not just the prime location near Royal Leamington Spa's lively town centre that makes an impression - it's the warmth. There's a special atmosphere here: a blend of timeless character and modern comfort, built on over 70 years of thoughtful, compassionate care.

Visitors often say it feels like home from the moment they step through the door. Friendly faces, welcoming conversations, and a genuine sense of belonging create a community where people are truly connected. From the laughter of visiting children to peaceful moments in the garden, each day offers opportunities to find joy, friendship, and meaning.

Our location is a perfect balance - close to beautiful parks, quaint cafés, and the historic heart of town - offering the best of both peaceful surroundings and vibrant local life.

At Homewood, care isn't just about support. It's about helping each person feel valued, understood, and able to live life in the way that suits them best.

Delights on your doorstep

Our gardens are more than just a pretty view - they're the beating heart of outdoor life. Blooming with colour and filled with charm, they offer the perfect setting for connection, relaxation, and quiet reflection.

Meandering paths lead to sunny patios and tucked-away benches, ideal for a morning stroll or a chat over tea. With help from local volunteers and The Prince's Trust, our grounds have been lovingly nurtured into vibrant spaces where life flourishes.

Whether you enjoy a bit of gentle gardening or simply watching flowers bloom, there's something for everyone. Raised beds and planters welcome green fingers, while comfy corners invite you to pause and take it all in.

We're lucky to have Jephson Gardens and Newbold Comyn nearby - perfect for outings, picnics, or simply soaking up the fresh air. Garden parties, organised trips, and spontaneous moments all contribute to an atmosphere where memories are made, naturally.

Meals that celebrate every story

Mealtimes are a sociable part of daily life here, offering more than just nourishment - they bring people together. Residents are closely involved in shaping the menus, ensuring meals reflect their tastes, preferences, and cultural traditions.

From comforting roast dinners to themed food events inspired by global cuisines, there's always something to look forward to.

Themed evenings are especially popular - whether it's an Italian night with pasta and tiramisu or a traditional fish and chips supper, they spark conversation and bring back fond memories.

These occasions offer wonderful opportunities to share stories and celebrate the diverse backgrounds of everyone in the community.

We also enjoy getting hands-on during baking sessions and marking special dates like National Pie Week, where the joy is just as important as the result.

For those who like to eat outside set mealtimes, light snacks are available throughout the day. Flexibility is key, because food should always be a pleasure, not a schedule.

Residents are encouraged to personalise their spaces with familiar touches to make them truly feel like home.

Welcoming communal areas provide the perfect backdrop for relaxation, conversation, and daily activities. Friends and family are an integral part of life here, bringing warmth and support that strengthens the sense of community for everyone.

Together, we create a place where residents remain connected - not just to each other, but to the wider community they've always known and loved.

I can't believe the change in Mum's mood and general wellbeing. She's mixing with people and enjoying activities. I can't thank Homewood and all the staff enough for everything they've done.

Living later life well

The activities calendar is packed with opportunities to connect, create, and celebrate. Residents enjoy pottery sessions, chair fitness classes, and live music performances, all designed to inspire joy and keep minds and bodies active.

Homewood's community connections add even more variety to life. Volunteers and local organisations bring energy and creativity, helping the home with organising activities like garden decoration, seasonal events, and fundraising fairs. Regular visits from local playgroups and therapy animals provide moments of intergenerational joy and companionship. The residents get especially excited when they hear that the local lamas are coming to visit.

Outings are a highlight for many residents, with the benefit of home's minibus offering trips to Warwick Castle, local garden centres, and nearby cafes. Seasonal excursions, such as Christmas light tours, give residents the chance to make new memories and experience the best of the local area.

The activities provided are many and varied and Mum's needs and wishes are listened to thanks to the excellent activity co-ordinator.
